He and his wife, Marva, have five children and three grandchildren.

Carson joined the postal service in 1957 as a substitute carrier. He has held various positions in the postal service organization, including the Wellston Station position since 1981.

A graduate of Vashon High School, he holds an associate degree in business administration from Florissant Valley Community College. He has also attended the University of Missouri at St. Louis.

Hogan named board president

By Dave Gosnell
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — District 9 Board of Education member Kelly Hogan took his seat as president of the board at Tuesday's regular meeting.

Hogan was selected as president by a 5-0 vote as a part of the board's annual reorganization. Board member Alan Cridder nominated Hogan. There were no other nominations.

HOGAN SUCCEEDS board member Dewey Melton as president.

This will be the second time Hogan has served as board president. He served from November 1984 to November 1985.

Hogan was first elected to the board in 1983 for a four-year term.

NEWLY-appointed board member JoAnn Macios was voted in as secretary of the board.

Macios was appointed by Regional no other nominations for secretary.

Member Monroe Worthen, who served as school treasurer for the last year, withdrew his name from nomination as treasurer.

After withdrawing his name, Worthen nominated board member Jolene Terrell for the position; the nomination passed unanimously.

AS PRESIDENT, Hogan recommended that attorney William Schooley be retained as the board's legal counsel. The board approved the recommendation. Schooley was absent from the meeting.

All members except Dave Partney received committee assignments.

The board also voted to change the starting time of its regular meetings from 7:30 to 7 p.m. The board's next regular meeting was changed from Nov. 18 to Nov. 25.

The board will continue to meet on the first and third Tuesday of each month unless otherwise posted.

VENICE — Preliminary selection of qualified superintendent candidates to administer the Venice School District will be made by a special committee appointed at last week's meeting of the Board of Education.

Wade James, retired assistant superintendent of Madison schools, and George E. Moore Sr., who served on the Granite City School Board for more than 12 years, were named to the Superintendent Search Committee.

JAMES AND MOORE will join Richard Wisner, director of field services for the Illinois Association of School Boards, on the committee.

Board members agreed earlier this year to utilize the services of the IASB in an advisory capacity during a search for a replacement for the current superintendent — Robert N. Vickers.

Gaffner seeks recount

By Bill Bagby
Staff writer

GREENVILLE — A limited recount of votes in some precincts will be requested by Bob Gaffner, defeated candidate for the 21st District congressional seat.

Gaffner lost last Tuesday to incumbent Rep. Melvin Price, D-Bellefonte, by a margin of 1,162 votes, based on complete, unofficial returns.

PRICE RECEIVED 55,965 votes while Gaffner received 54,803 in the district. In Madison County, Price received 31,187 to Gaffner's 30,106.

Gaffner, 54, filed a request for a limited, or "discovery," recount Friday afternoon with Madison County Clerk Evelyn Bowles.

Under the law, Gaffner had five days to request the discovery recount after the official canvass in each county was completed. The Madison County canvass was completed Thursday, verifying the 31,187-30,106 outcome in this county, without change.

In a discovery recount, Gaffner can request the recount of ballots in up to 25 percent of the area, he said.

CANVASSES in Bond, Clinton and Montgomery counties were expected to be completed Friday, he said. The East St. Louis canvass should be completed tomorrow (Monday), he added.

Gaffner said he will request a recount in areas where he did poorly, such as East St. Louis.

He added he was not looking for "fraud or ballot stuffing."

GAFFNER SAID he is concerned with computer errors in Madison and Bond counties. In one Bond County precinct, Gaffner said, a precinct showed 457 ballots were cast, but there were only 443 eligible voters. He said he blamed the difference on a "clerical error."

If enough discrepancies in vote figures are found, Gaffner said, he will call for a full recount. He will have 30 days from Nov. 4 to do so under the law, he said.

Gaffner said his campaign fund would pay the costs of the recount; taxpayers will not be asked to pay, he stressed.

Last Tuesday's was the third consecutive election Gaffner has lost to Price, 81, who will be serving his 22nd two-year term in Congress.

Lahr campaign finances disclosed

By Dave Gosnell
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Campaign financing documents recently submitted reveal that the campaign committee supporting a losing slate of candidates for the District 9 Board of Education last year spent much more than previously reported.

The Ruth Lahr for School Board Committee, which was supporting four candidates in the election including then-incumbent Ruth Lahr, spent $14,140 in the campaign instead of $2,881 recorded in an incomplete campaign disclosure statement last year.

THE STATEMENT also itemized contributors that were not listed in last year's report.

The Lahr committee failed to file its annual report by the July 31 deadline. The report was filed Oct. 17 at the county clerk's office after the committee's treasurer, current board member Dave Partney, was told by state election officials to submit a report within 20 days.

Partney said he was not aware of the deadline.

"I was not aware of it until I got a notice from the state Board of Elections," Partney said.

The statement shows the Lahr committee spent most of its money within days of the election and that the committee took out a $5,000 loan from Central Bank in Granite City.

Partney said he, his brother, Dan Partney, and board member Kelly Hogan signed for the loan.

THE LOAN was converted to cash and used mainly to pay workers to get out the vote on election day, Partney said.

The statement does not list how the money was distributed to campaign workers because the state's campaign disclosure law does not require it, Partney said.

State law requires that any single expenditure of $150 or more be reported. Partney said each worker was paid between $25 and $50 on election day. The statement said the committee spent $6,500 on payments to workers.

IT HAS NOT BEEN repaid and the signatures will probably hold a fundraiser to pay it off, Partney said.

The loan apparently was an effort to counter problems with hiring workers for the Lahr campaign.

"Several (precinct) committeemen said they were going to support us... They said they were going to hire workers. I found out that they had not been hired. I got panicky," Partney said.

Contributors previously not listed in the first Lahr campaign statement include Partney and candidates Mark Maynard, Gene Ross, Ruth Lahr and Don Lane. Each contributed $45 on Oct. 31, 1985, according to the report.

BESIDES the candidate contributions and the loan, the rest of the money raised for the campaign came from ticket sales and contributions, Partney said.

He said one fund-raiser at Charlie's Restaurant in Granite City netted about $3,000 (those who bought tickets to the event were not listed).

The campaign statement lists $6,841 in non-itemized contributions. Under the campaign disclosure law, all contributions under $500 need not be itemized.

Despite spending more than the opposition slate of candidates, called the Monroe Worthen 25th Anniversary Committee, no Lahr committee candidates won a seat. All candidates from the Worthen campaign were elected.

PARTNEY SAID the Lahr committee was late in starting the campaign and was not given promised worker support from several precinct committeemen.

"You cannot get your story out to the public in a week's time," he said.

Ortbals ready for developer's meeting

By Bill Bagby
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Though he's not a contractor, Alan Ortbal is helping to rebuild downtown Granite City.

Besides working on the city's annexation plans, Ortbal, director of economic development, is preparing for a meeting Wednesday with seven representatives from six different developers — in the hope of attracting new business to the downtown area.

Sunday focus

A GROUP of local civic and business leaders, including Ortbal, Mayor Von Dee Cruse, R C Bush, executive vice president of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, 4th Ward Alderwoman Sharon Perjak, Tom Holloway, chamber president and president of First Granite City National Bank and Rob Treat of Illinois Power Co., will be sharing with the developers their experiences and views of Granite City, Ortbal said.

"Each has a story to tell, so to speak," he said.

The meeting will begin at 11 a.m. with a presentation on the Tax Increment Financing (TIF) program, the downtown development plan and the market analysis made of this area, he said.

AT NOON, the group will take a bus tour of downtown, viewing the development areas, followed by a brief tour of the city, Ortbal said.

The group will then meet for lunch at Charlie's Restaurant at 12:30 followed by a question and answer period, Ortbal said.

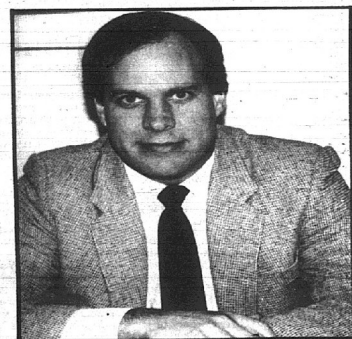

In September, 160 brochures were sent to developers throughout the Midwest, Ortbal said. Follow-up calls were made and eight developers indicated an interest in coming to Granite City, he said.

THOUGH SIX companies will be represented at Wednesday's meeting, Ortbal said two others are interested but could not attend. Developers from St. Louis, Chicago, Peoria and Milwaukee will be at the meeting.

Ortbal said he sees a redevelopment trend for downtown areas in other cities. The reason, he said, is that as downtown areas begin to deteriorate, so do the surrounding residential areas.

"It's like a rot that has set in that will continue to spread unless you can stop it," he said.

ONE WAY of stopping it, he said, is by the TIF program. The program provides the money to revitalize downtown districts without raising taxes or obtaining federal grants, he said.

The key to TIF, Ortbal said, is the sales tax provision.

For example, Ortbal said, the new McDonald's Restaurant, being built at 21st Street and Madison Avenue, is estimated to gross $1.2 million a year when opened. With TIF, the city will receive approximately $20,000 in sales tax revenue to go into a downtown redevelopment fund, he said.

EAST PEORIA was the model community Granite City used for its TIF program, Ortbal said. That city was able to bring a new City Hall, bank, grocery store, discount store, medical building and 350 jobs through TIF.

Locally, Wood River and Edwardsville are also considering TIF plans.

Ortbal said he is hopeful Wednesday's meeting will bring positive results. However, he hasn't lost sight that redevelopment of downtown will be a long process.

"It's really one hurdle at a time," he said. "You can get tripped anywhere along the way."

Warm welcome to our visitors

"Hey, look us over..."
The Quad-City Area will be in the spotlight twice this week, and the applause for its performance may take the form of new economic activity and an expanded job base.

WEDNESDAY — Alan Ortals, Granite City director of economic development, will meet with seven experts from six development firms interested in the city's downtown area.

Joining him as hosts will be Mayor Von Dee Cruse, R C Bush of the Tri-City Area Chamber of Commerce, Alderwoman Sharon Perjak, Tom Holloway, chamber president and president of First Granite City National Bank, and Ron Smith of Illinois Power Co. They will tell of their experiences and views of Granite City.

The meeting will include explanations of the Tax Increment Financing program, the downtown development plan, and a market analysis of this area.

The group — from St. Louis, Peoria, Chicago and Milwaukee — will take a bus tour of downtown, viewing the development areas, followed by a tour of the city. Developers next will attend a luncheon and participate in a question and answer session.

The result could be increased participation by development leaders in the about-to-be reborn central business district of Granite City.

THURSDAY — Japan auto parts manufacturers will arrive in Granite City to tour the Tri-City Regional Port, Granite City Steel, A.O. Smith Corp. and Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Hosts will include the Port District, the Leadership Council of Southwestern Illinois and the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan and Regional Planning Commission.

A two-year Japanese study of Midwestern investment opportunities has pinpointed this community as ideal for auto parts production and shipping.

The two industries to be visited illustrate how a steel source can be meshed with auto parts production. And the harbor tour will help show this metropolitan area's outstanding transportation links, which include barge, rail, truck and cargo terminals.

The goal: Additional plants that can be assets for their owners and for this region.

Nov. 12-13 can be important days in local history. Business competition in the late 1960s has worldwide impact, and the week is beating a path to our doorstep this week to see how we can play a bigger role.

A warm welcome should be extended to the visitors.

SEMC Auxiliary valuable resource

Progress reports of donations and community services were presented to the St. Elizabeth Medical Center Auxiliary at its recent general membership meeting.

The Auxiliary has donated $120,000 of its pledged $200,000 for the renovation of the former McKinley School Building, now an integral part of the medical center.

The recently completed facility consists of a cardiac rehabilitation program, physical therapy, wellness diagnostic testing and evaluation, and educational health promotion classes and programs. It also serves as a fitness center of SEMC associates.

The Auxiliary's support of the Wellness Center is the most recent of several projects which the group has helped to fund.

It is assisting SEMC by providing financing for a yearly contract for a satellite educational system, including installation of a satellite dish, licensing and fees. As a paid member of the Hospital Satellite Network, St. Elizabeth Medical Center now receives a monthly selection of health care programming as well as special teleconferences. This cost-effective, in-house educational program is supported by a yearly $5,000 contribution from the Auxiliary.

Other projects to which the resources of the Auxiliary are extended are the Medical Center's Mobile Meals and Lifeline services.

While the Mobile Meals concept has been operating for some time, the Lifeline program is much newer. It is a system of communication between individuals in the community and the Medical Center. Principals users are the elderly or infirm, usually living alone, who might need medical assistance in an emergency. There is an $8.50 monthly fee for subscription to this program. However, the Auxiliary meets the obligation for those unable to do so, and is presently paying the monthly cost for seven Lifeline subscribers. Founded in 1941 exclusively for charitable purposes, the Auxiliary functions to promote interest in the welfare of St. Elizabeth Medical Center, to establish through service a cooperative relationship between the Medical Center and the public it serves, and to assist in any phase of the Center's activities.

Funds of the Auxiliary's philanthropies are derived from its operation of the Medical Center's gift shop, coffee shop and patient television rentals.

With the exception of the coffee shop, which is open 13 hours each day, all services are provided by volunteers.

St. Elizabeth Medical Center addresses a great need in our community. The Auxiliary is proud to be associated with it in its mission — to improve the quality of life for everyone.

Some believe the time has come when Illinois will have to reduce requirements for ballot access to additional political viewpoints.

The alternative might be worse, like having a powerful, well-financed organization taking control over a major party in the state.

Ballot access should be made easier

To the editor:

Political activities in Illinois have caught the attention of the entire nation, especially since candidate Adlai Stevenson refused to run as governor along with two successful Democratic candidates aligned with the LaRouche political organization.

This unique incident shows up several shortcomings in Illinois election procedures.

It suggests there is a self-appointed group of professional politicians who assume the authority to decide who should be considered "qualified" to run for political office in the state. To a great extent, they determine who can be placed on the ballot.

not stand. Can any government compel the use of such a dangerous device?

U.S. News and World Report dares to expose the dangers of seat belts on page 10 of the Aug. 25 issue. They tell the story of five preschool children, without seat belts, who walked away uninjured, while the other six passengers, with seat belts, were injured in a head-on collision at 25 miles per hour. It was reported that one of those using a seat belt died.

If state law enforcement agencies enforced the legal restrictions against drunken drivers and underage drivers, our concern about serious accidents would be greatly reduced. The mandatory seat-belt law is a poor substitute for proper enforcement of reasonable laws.

The mandatory seat-belt law symbolizes governmental control or manipulation promoted by a small band of sophisticated, self-appointed experts who think they know what is best for all of us. Let us replace those so-called experts with government of the people, by the people, and for the people. Rise up, patriots, if you want to keep this country under control.

Overturn the Illinois seat-belt law

To the editor:

Now that the present state administration has found a court that would declare the mandatory seat-belt law unconstitutional, maybe the controversy should be ended. Don't you believe it? The judge does not have the last word on this.

With more than three-fourths of Illinois citizens opposed to this kind of social legislation, this issue will be brought to the boiling point. We still have government who gets its authority by the consent of those governed.

The big lie technique perpetrated by the promoters of seat belts will

When I arrived, it appeared Churchill had won. He was shaking hands and hugging well-wishers who came out to celebrate his victory.

As I made my way toward Churchill to get his reaction, a boy approached me and said, "What paper are you from?"

After I identified myself, the boy said he was Churchill's grandson. He told me I was going to have trouble trying to talk to his "grandpa" since he was busy shaking hands.

However, the wait wasn't too long. The boy grabbed his grandfather by the hand, pulled him toward me and said to Churchill, "This man is from the Granite City press. He wants to talk to you."

While I interviewed Churchill, more well-wishers passed by, saying, "Hi, Sheriff." Former Granite City Police Chief Ron Veizer, a Churchill backer since before the March primary, also joined in on the celebration.

On Wednesday morning, it was off to the Madison County Courthouse in Edwardsville to get the unofficial election returns from County Clerk Evelyn Bowles.

Election day has to be extremely tiring for Bowles. However, she didn't show it Wednesday morning. Though her staff and she were very busy at work, she took the time to get a copy of the results — with a celebration.

Election night coverage brings the results home

Last week's general election is history.

The campaign posters will be coming down, political commercials will cease airing and the mud slinging will stop for awhile.

It was an interesting election with, surprisingly, no major upsets in the state and area-wide elections.

This was the first general election "covered" as my sports friends would say. I sat at home and watched the returns on television. However, this year I had a different view of election night.

Several weeks ago, the newsroom staff of the Press-Record/Journal discussed plans for coverage of the election. It was decided the content of most interest to Quad-Citians would be the sheriff's race between Tom Voloski of Madison and Bob Churchill of Alton.

On Tuesday afternoon, the staff met again and reviewed our plans. We were ready.

No. 1 drug problem is alcohol

By Paul Harvey

The sons and daughters of the Eighties are more tempted than any generation heretofore to experiment with so-called "controlled substances."

But an uncontrolled substance may be a greater menace. If Dad staggers home drunk, how dare he admonish Junior, "Don't you dare smoke pot or sniff coke" — when enlightened Junior knows there is not all that much difference.

Former First Lady Betty Ford endorses our present President's crusade against drugs — but she fears we might overshoot the target. Chicago's "Dr. Quinley" is medical examiner Robert Stein. Every day he examines the remains of somebodies overdosed on drugs.

But every day he examines many more bodies of dead pedestrians, dead motorists, dead swimmers and dead casualties where alcohol was to blame.

His records show 60 percent of

Paul Harvey News

By Paul Harvey
P.H.A. Times Syndicate

stabbing victims had alcohol in their systems.

This is not intended to equate alcohol with harder drugs, nor to diminish the significance of the present "drug war." But a worthy crusade may be diminished if the crusaders are halfhearted.

On any given day, up to 33 percent of adult patients in American hospitals have problems relating to alcohol.

More than 30 percent of suicide victims had been drinking.

Half of all arrests are alcohol-related.

Alcohol is a factor in half of all family disputes, in 50 percent of 80 percent of all homicides, 50 percent of rapes and 72 percent of robberies. Sixty-five percent of all child abuse is alcohol-related. Alcohol-related car accidents kill 25,000 a year, injuring 74,000.

Again — America does have a drug problem. But the No. 1 drug problem is not the ones making news.

New York State school-agers were surveyed: 83 percent of junior and senior high students have used alcohol; 13 percent have attended classes "under the influence."

That same study affirmed that occasional drinkers include 40 percent of 12-year-olds.

That 28 percent of 18-year-olds are already "heavy drinkers."

The AMA Journal further finds that four times as many men as women are alcoholics, but "women are catching up."

If booze in all its beautiful disguises has any "socially redeeming value" it is that at least the makers and marketers of that drug do pay taxes.

I-255 can spark economic growth

To the editor:

On Oct. 23, I opened a five-mile, $100 million section of Interstate 255 providing the first link in a new corridor to avoid traffic congestion and delays in the St. Louis metropolitan area. The new section runs from I-55 near Collinsville south to I-64.

The real importance of this link is the role it will play in the economic development of the region.

The area along I-255 is one of our Corridors of Opportunity for the establishment of retail, office and service firms. Encouraging growth in Southwestern Illinois will pay dividends for future generations.

While there is one more link to be completed to the north, this is really the big connection which makes the bypass work.

Anyone who has traveled the Interstates through the center of Metro East knows how congested that area has become — and the frustration of being caught in a traffic jam.

New travelers in the downtown St. Louis area, as well as those on a through route, will find traffic easier to negotiate and their travel time shortened. That, of course, means economic benefits for everyone.

The new section of highway, which will carry 30,000 vehicles per day, will alleviate traffic on other parts of the metropolitan Interstate system which have surpassed their optimum capacities.

The new five-mile section between I-64 and I-55/70 completes the 21-segment from the Missouri state line to I-55/70. Grading and bridges on the remaining six miles between I-55/70 and I-270 are in progress.

More than $30 million in federal and state funds have been invested in I-255 since construction began in 1977.

Currently, $85 million worth of work is under contract.

The highway construction program for the current fiscal year includes paving of the final six-mile segment from I-270 to I-55/70 at an estimated cost of $18.1 million and miscellaneous work, including landscaping at an estimated cost of $1.2 million.

The current five-year road program includes $8.3 million in projects which will include all remaining work on I-255, including completion of the eastbound Jefferson Barracks Bridge over the Mississippi River and miscellaneous work, such as signing, lighting and landscaping.

Illinois Department of Transportation anticipates opening the last six miles of I-255 in late 1988 and the eastbound Jefferson Barracks Bridge in late 1989.

Veterans preserved nation's heritage

To the editor:

The Veterans Day Nov. 11 will mark a period of more than two-thirds of this century in which America's citizen-soldiers have risen to their country's call in a time of national crisis.

They served. Some died. Most came home. Veterans Day is reserved for all who answered that call, because memories of simple, gallant devotion to country grow dim with time.

Put this Nov. 11 into perspective with other national holidays we observe: Mothers Day; Fathers Day; Grandparents Day. Each of these are concepts dealing with people we have come to understand daily in their primary roles as Americans.

But what of veterans? They are our fathers, our mothers, our grandparents. A veteran is you, who, for a brief time in history, rose above the daily tasks of work and family to serve selflessly for our country.

This Veterans Day is the single day a year we have to honor all men and women who put aside their lives with a single thought in mind: to preserve America when she was threatened.

Veterans Day reminds us that these citizen-soldiers not merely put aside their uniforms when the threat was conquered. We returned to family and friends with a new sense of meaning to our lives; one which gave us a new appreciation for the bounty and opportunity in this nation.

By reverent observance of this Veterans Day, we are honoring our parents and grandparents, brothers, sisters and neighbors for stepping forward during periods of trial, peril and threat.

Just because we normally think of them in their roles as everyday Americans, let's not ignore that moment in history when they preserved America and her heritage.

Scrutiny of health care delivery systems urged

Growing pressures on Illinois' health care systems have made safeguarding patient rights to high-quality medicine increasingly difficult, Dr. Jere E. Freidheim told local physicians at a gathering of the Madison County Medical Society on Nov. 4.

As 1986-87 president of the 17,000-member Illinois State Medical Society, Dr. Freidheim serves as the state's top medical spokesman. The Madison County Medical Society meeting was held at Sunset Hills Country Club, Edwardsville.

Freidheim addressed three critical issues which influence quality of health care for patients in Madison County and throughout Illinois.

The first, a continuing crisis in medical malpractice, needs long-term attention, he said. While the state Supreme Court has affirmed the bulk of a 1985 medical malpractice reform law, Freidheim and the Illinois State Medical Society advocate continued, strong public policy remedies for "restoring balance to the civil justice system."

Awards for non-economic damages — such as pain and suffering, loss of consortium, embarrassment, etc. — are still unpredictable and growing, Freidheim said to the doctors.

"Many physicians are abandoning high-risk practice, or retiring early altogether. This vulnerability of some health care is at stake, especially in small, rural Illinois communities," he said.

"Two essential reforms are in order. They are a more reasonable statute of limitations for minors injured through medical negligence, and a maximum cap on non-economic damages — in addition to full compensation for all of an injured patient's economic loss. The ISMS will propose these for 1987 General Assembly debate."

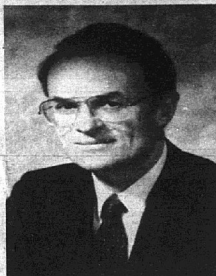

Professional integrity — and effective medical discipline to enforce it — was called a second important way to assure that Illinois patients receive high-quality care.

"Freidheim urged his colleagues in Madison County to consider the strong personal commitment to removing incompetent or unethical doctors from patient care."

"Physicians know that the current medical malpractice crisis stems from legal causes, not medical incompetence," Freidheim said.

"Nonetheless, we must reaffirm our commitment to effective medical discipline, especially since we are petitioning public policymakers for additional medical malpractice reform."

Freidheim detailed an ISMS assistance program for drug, alcohol or otherwise impaired doctors. By calling the ISMS Impaired

Physician Help Line, these doctors and their families can receive confidential counseling and assistance, he said. The number is 1-312-580-2499.

"A third critical challenge to maintaining high-quality health care for Illinois is the explosive growth of new, alternative health care delivery systems."

"Health maintenance organizations (HMOs), independent practice associations (IPAs), and preferred provider organizations (PPOs) are three examples."

"These organizations — called alternative delivery systems — are becoming increasingly prevalent, powerful managers of patient care," he said. "Doctors must be vigilant to assure that quality health care is preserved under these new systems. We must not abandon the exercise of our independent, medical judgment in the name of corporate cost containment," Freidheim stressed.

"Often, alternative delivery system contracts affect where care is received, what primary care doctors and specialists patients are allowed to see, and other medical decisions."

Freidheim urged doctors to scrutinize carefully alternative health care contracts before signing up as participants, in order to make sure patient rights and medically-founded decisions are adequately safeguarded.

"Cost-cutters abound," Freidheim reminded his colleagues. "It's our job to see that patients don't suffer as a result."

Dr. Freidheim is a pediatrician from Burr Ridge, Ill. He chairs the Department of Pediatrics at Mercy Hospital and Medical Center in Chicago. His appearance in Madison County was part of the annual ISMS "president's tour" throughout the state.

Grants for recycling research

Illinois industries, engineering consultants, engineering contractor firms and private or public research institutions are now eligible to apply for a $10,000 grant as part of the state's matching grant program.

The "Recycling, Reduction and Treatment (RRT) Technical Demonstration Program" awards will be made to applicants for developing new technologies or testing new applications of existing methods for recycling, reducing or treating hazardous wastes.

The matching grants are being administered by the Illinois Hazardous Waste Research and Information Center (HWRIC), a part of the Department of Energy and Natural Resources.

In addition to encouraging innovations and reducing hazardous waste generation, the grants could ultimately save Illinois industries millions of dollars by reducing costs associated with hazardous waste disposal.

"We are looking for technologies with high potential for transferring basic research or lab studies into the pilot demonstration phase, with the intent to achieve commercialization," said the HWRIC industrial and technical assistance coordinator, Frederick L. Doll.

The program's ultimate goal, according to HWRIC Director David L. Thomas, is to encourage industry to explore ways of reducing the amount and toxicity of the wastes they are generating.

Eligible projects include those that:

- Concentrate hazardous wastes;
- Detoxify hazardous wastes;
- Reclaim hazardous wastes, on- or off-site;
- Recycle hazardous wastes, on- or off-site;
- Minimize the amount of hazardous waste generated through process modification or improved housekeeping;
- Achieve a high degree of innovation in hazardous waste treatment.

Projects limited to basic research or those proposing known or previously piloted technologies are not eligible.

HWRIC is soliciting proposals for the RRT grants through mailings to industries, consulting groups and research institutions, its phone number is 1-217-353-3890.

Navajo, Hopi homelands topic

This summer, the Navajo-Hopi Land Settlement Act sought to move 2,500 Navajo families from atop mineral-rich Black Mesa, which they have shared for over 100 years with the Hopi. The rights of both Indian nations will be a topic here Nov. 10.

The real winners may be those companies which move in to remove the minerals and use the water without regard to the interests of all members of both nations, David Lobbig said this week.

Many new problems are being unearthed by the resettlement act. Spills within the tribes have occurred, causing rifts between traditional Hopi and Navajo who reject the idea of partitioning, selling or changing the land and pro-development Indians who talk of new jobs, tax breaks and long-range incomes.

Accidents at some of the three uranium mines have polluted the water of the Rio Puerco which the Navajo rely on for drinking as well as for livestock, he said. Peabody Coal uses most of the other water in the area to cool the generators of its 2,000-megawatt power plant.

Peter Matthiesen, author of "The Snow Leopard" and other books, has closely followed the events at Big Mountain and has witnessed much of the exploitation of modern Indians. He says the tragedy at Big Mountain can be averted "if just a few legislators would have the courage, the character, to stand up and say, 'Enough is enough. This is an outrage — an open and overt outrage.' Then a healing could take place."

Lobbig and Byron Clemens from the St. Louis Big Mountain Support Group will present the November, Sierra Club meeting on Monday, Nov. 10, at 7:30 p.m. at the First Presbyterian Church, 4th and Alby Streets, Alton. The public is invited. Anyone wishing to join Lobbig, Clemens and other Sierrans and friends for dinner and/or dessert at the Stratford Hotel in Alton at 5:30 p.m. Nov. 10 is welcome.

Landlord-tenant workshop Nov. 18.

A "landlord and tenant workshop" will be presented Tuesday, Nov. 18, at SIUE.

Sponsored by the SIUE Student Legal Services and the SIUE Student Activities Office (692-9600), the workshop is scheduled from 4:30 until 6:30 p.m. in the Hackberry Room of the University Center.

License stickers due by Nov. 30

New, larger renewal stickers for 1987 must be displayed on passenger car license plates expiring in November by midnight Sunday, Nov. 30, Secretary of State Jim Edgar has announced.

Edgar reminded motorists who are receiving newly designed plates this year that the sticker attached to the ID card must be placed at the bottom center of the new rear plate. "The new, blue stickers are twice the size of the current stickers," Edgar said, "making them easier to read and more identifiable for police officers. In addition, owners of 1.7 million automobiles with plates beginning with the letters N through Z are receiving new plates this year, marking the end of the three-year replating program for all 5.6 million cars in Illinois."

Pre-printed renewal applications have been mailed to 488,000 owners who renew their stickers in November, and 195,000 owners who will also receive the new passenger car license plates.

Legislation to affect nurses

(Submitted by Dorothy Stratman-Lucey, RN, MSN, Illinois Nurses' Association 10th District president, and medical-surgical consultant, St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Belleville.)

This current election year, 1986, saw many nurses at the grassroots level working to support candidates who were supportive of their health care concerns.

The issues are many and diverse. Topping the list is the concern for access to health care services and cost, especially for the most vulnerable consumers: the elderly, women, children, the poor, the chronically ill.

The political action arm of the Illinois Nurses' Association, SNAP (State Nurses Active in Politics in Illinois) endorsed candidates who had supported nursing goals in the Illinois legislature.

"As the largest group of health care providers, nurses have a great interest in decisions affecting health care," said Betty Schlatter, Chairperson of SNAP.

"One in 45 registered women voters is a registered nurse. We are pleased to put our strength behind candidates who have worked for an equitable and compassionate health care system."

Nurses telephoned, with Nurses' Nights held for some candidates, and also stuffed envelopes and canvassed as the election drew near.

We endorsed:

For the Illinois Senate —

District 57, Kenneth Hall, St. Clair County.
District 54, William O'Daniel, Jefferson County.
District 56, Sam Vadalabene, Madison County.

For the Illinois House —
District 111, Sam Wolf, Madison County.
District 112, Jim McPike, Madison County.

District 110, Ron Stephens, St. Clair County.
District 113, Wyvetter Young, St. Clair County.

District 114, Monroe Flinn, St. Clair County.
District 108, Larry Hicks, Jefferson County.

One of the 1987 legislative spotlights for nurses will be the introduction of legislation in the wake of the Nurse Practice Act, which is sunsetting.

It is proposed to modify ways for nurses to enter nursing.

Two entry ways will be proposed — the associate degree and the baccalaureate degree.

The National Organization for Licensed Practical Nurses (LPNs) has already voiced the need for an LPN to enter at the associate degree level.

Thus, the LPN preparation in vocational schools will no longer be a viable choice for entry into nursing. Diploma nursing programs will merge with junior colleges or four-year institutions to prepare the nurse within an institution of higher learning.

Misleading information on INA's proposed Nurse Practice Act is already circulating, distorting many nurses, especially in junior colleges.

Concerns revolve around: titling — who will be called the registered nurse (RN); grandfathering of all present RNs into the professional level and grandfathering of LPNs into the proposed AN (associate nurse) level.

Curriculum changes are needed for both the present associate degree and the present baccalaureate degree programs.

Nurses are dynamically trying to prepare for the projected health care needs of consumers in the 20th Century. Implementation dates are projected to allow all programs time for curriculum revisions.

As you receive entry-level information for nursing, remember we are primarily speaking about the level of entry into nursing for boys and girls who are presently in the third grade.

If you wish more information or a speaker on the proposed Nurse Practice Act and how it will influence consumer health, please contact me: Dorothy Stratman-Lucey at 211 S. Third St., Belleville, Ill. 62222, or phone 234-2120, extension 1438 or pager 526.

State wants to help its 'cocaine babies'

Illinois Department of Children and Family Services Director Gordon Johnson has announced plans to improve the state's ability to identify and provide services to mothers and infants addicted to cocaine.

Johnson announced the plans during a news conference with officials of Northwestern Memorial Hospital and Illinois Department of Alcoholism and Substance Abuse Director William Atkins.

The two state agencies and the hospital will work together on a six-point program to aid mothers and infants addicted to cocaine. The program will consist of:

- A confidential statewide hotline — 1-800-327-BABE.
- Education of medical and child care professionals.
- An awareness campaign, especially for pregnant teenagers.
- Medical care and counseling for women and infants.
- Separate child abuse statistics for cocaine abuse.
- A national conference in Chicago on cocaine's effects on pregnancy.

"Cocaine babies are one of the newest and most disturbing forms of child abuse in our society," Johnson said. "We don't want to punish, we want to help, and if we can get there early enough we can save lives."

Dr. Ira J. Chasnoff, head of Northwestern's Perinatal Center for Chemical Dependence, said that cocaine has surpassed all other drugs in the danger it poses to mothers and their babies.

Dr. Chasnoff, a national leader in the treatment of pregnant women and infants addicted to cocaine, said that in some cases as many as 10 percent of all pregnancies are complicated by cocaine use.

Even a small amount of cocaine use by a pregnant woman can result in miscarriage and the incidence of Sudden Infant Death Syndrome is much higher among babies of cocaine users.

Infants born addicted to cocaine often suffer severe complications, from extreme withdrawal tremors to strokes.

Johnson said that from now on the Department will list cocaine abuse separately from other substance abuse cases of the severe threat cocaine poses for infants.

DCFS and DASA will pay for three two-day training sessions for medical professionals, child care workers and substance abuse experts from public and private agencies.

"The faster we can spot cocaine use by a pregnant woman, the better the chance we have of getting her off the drug and helping her deliver a normal healthy baby," Johnson said.

"The major problem we face in helping cocaine babies is getting their mothers to come forward for help," Atkins said. "We want them to know what they are risking and that we are here to help."

The state and hospital will also cooperate in a national conference on cocaine abuse by pregnant women and its effects on babies. The conference is planned for next September in Chicago.

National Guard to get armory, training site

Gov. James R. Thompson on Monday announced that the Illinois National Guard will receive free acreage for a new training site near Sparta.

"Peabody Coal Co. has agreed to give 2,100 acres of land to the State of Illinois at no cost. The development of the military training site will be beneficial to the National Guard and also will enhance the economy of the Sparta area," he said.

Peabody will retain the right to mine the site and also will provide reclamation of the mined land. When mining operations are completed, plans call for the land to be reclaimed to pasture suitability.

"This is a rare opportunity to provide a military training area in Southern Illinois," Thompson said. "Currently the Illinois National Guard has a 2,500-acre site at Marshall and 100 acres in Springfield. I thank Peabody Coal Company for making this large tract of land available to the National Guard as a gift."

Peabody plans to have the necessary permit applications and revision submitted to the Illinois Department of Mines and Minerals early in 1987. These will undergo the standard permit review process, which includes public comment, hearings and review by those State agencies concerned with protection of the environment.

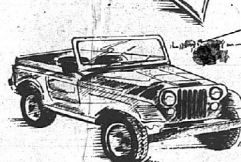

The new training site is north of Sparta and is adjacent to 11 acres of land where the National Guard plans to construct an armory. The training area can accommodate about 600 troops for field training. Maneuvers will be primarily on foot.

Tentative plans include future construction of a small arms weapons range, conforming to strict safety standards.

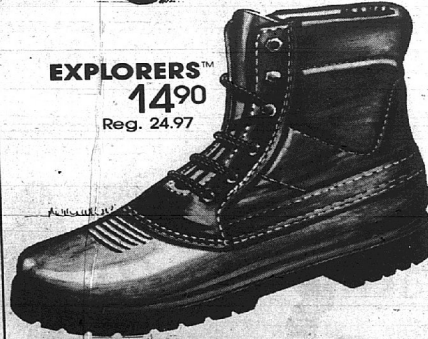

The range facilities also would be available for use by law enforcement agencies.

YOUR STARS

By Stella Wilder

The coming week allows great strides to be made as far as self-discovery is concerned, especially for those with the capacity to be honest and realistic with respect to both strengths and weaknesses. Those who are not in the habit of looking at themselves as others see them will also benefit this week, though positive results will certainly be more difficult to come by and things may indeed look bleak until week's end. All will find that this will prove, in retrospect, a pivotal week.

The personal takes precedence over the financial this week, though there may be moments when the two go hand in hand. In these cases, it is imperative that one maintain a healthy, realistic perspective. Week's end should bring an increased confidence and a more positive outlook.

SCORPIO Oct. 23-Nov. 7 - That negative influence must be dealt with before the week is out. Look within yourself for the remedy.

Nov. 8-Nov. 21 - You must take definite steps this week toward overcoming insecurities if you wish to progress. Honesty is key!

SAGITTARIUS Nov. 22-Dec. 7 - Though you may jump out in front early in the week, competition gives you a run for your money. Keep up the pace. Dec. 8-Dec. 21 - What at first may seem an unfortunate reality proves, by week's end, to be a big help to you.

CARPICORN Dec. 22-Jan. 6 - Children require much time and attention this week - though no more than adults! Family issues reign. Jan. 7-Jan. 19 - Expect the unexpected this week - both at home and abroad. Travel broadens your perspective.

AQUARIUS Jan. 20-Feb. 3 - Momentum you build up early in the week must be maintained if progress is to be assured. Expect midweek revelation. Feb. 4-Feb. 18 - Your reputation is at stake early in the week. Later, finances become a growing concern.

PISCES Feb. 19-March 5 - You have the opportunity to follow an early triumph with yet another later in the week! Rivals take you more seriously. March 6-March 20 - A clandestine arrangement eases the way early in the week, but may create problems later.

ARIES March 21-April 4 - You may have to fight tooth and nail this week to realize what you thought would be a sure thing. April 5-April 19 - A good week for putting your money where your mouth is; supporters appreciate proof of your intent.

TAURUS April 20-May 5 - Gift giving is an indication of your good will early in the week. You can impress both friends and family members. May 6-May 20 - Tension on the home front may prevent you from focusing your full attention on work at hand this week.

GEMINI May 21-June 6 - A good week, and one free of unpleasant external influences and stress. Spend time with family, friends. June 7-June 20 - Minor setback early in the week does not keep you from progressing handsomely after a speedy recovery.

CANCER June 21-July 7 - Friends and relatives offer much-sought-after assistance this week. Do not let pride stand in the way of acceptance. July 8-July 22 - A special adviser points you in the right direction this week. Solutions come quickly to you now.

Seniors need office, multi-purpose center

By Bill Bagby
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — An informational and referral office and a multi-purpose center for senior citizens were recommended in a needs assessment report prepared for Granite City's Senior Citizens Advisory Committee.

The study, prepared by SIUE student Ruth Reko, showed an office was needed to provide a centralized source of information about services and assistance for seniors.

SERVICES PROVIDED by the office would be performed by telephone, Reko said. However, she said the office could conceivably handle requests on a "face-to-face" basis.

An office coordinator, trained in gerontology, would be needed to maintain the office, Reko said. Duties of the coordinator would be to develop and keep an information and service resource file and to train other people in information giving and in developing new resources where seniors can be referred.

The office would also identify needs and direct seniors to the appropriate service agency. A file would be kept and follow-up activities conducted with seniors or agencies to determine whether services have been received and needed, the study indicated.

THE OTHER need Reko indicated in the study was for a senior multi-purpose center. The center could provide many needed services to local seniors, she said.

Reko said a "diverse board of participants and experts" would need to be involved in extensive planning, site selection, fundraising efforts through local sources and grants, and general coordination of support and effort for the center.

The referral office could be located in the senior center, once completed. Meantime, space for the office in City Hall has been offered by Mayor Von Dee Cruse.

IN PREPARING the report, Reko contacted 27 different agencies providing services to seniors. Those agencies identified several services needed to be provided to seniors, including:

•Adult day care for working relatives who do not want to place elderly family members in nursing homes.

•Home services such as maintenance, handyman or low-cost cleaning services.

•An increase in the availability of congregate meals and the number of volunteers to administer the "Meals on Wheels" program.

•Additional services to be offered at the Granite City Township Center such as a Foster Grandparent program, a locked storage area for clubs meeting there, and a movie program.

•Increased transportation service.

•Increased volunteer participation.

MANY OF The agencies also identified the need for an office and senior center, the report said.

Reko said she learned there were 6,122 seniors in Granite City comprising approximately 16 percent of the population.

Members of the senior committee met Thursday afternoon at City Hall to discuss Reko's recommendations and plan for implementation of the office and center. The committee will meet again at 3 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 20.

REKO'S RECOMMENDATIONS were welcomed by Granite City resident John Petish Sr. Petish, along with several other local seniors, have voiced the need for an office and center.

"I think the office is the number one priority," Petish said. "When you've got an office, you've got a central place to work from."

Vickers notified the board in 1985 that he intended to retire at the end of the 1986-87 school year. He has been the Venice district's top administrator since 1974.

PRIOR TO 1974, Vickers was the assistant superintendent, a principal and a teacher in the school system for 25 years.

The special committee's responsibilities will include screening the initial batch of candidates expected to seek the superintendent's position, thereby reducing the number of applications to a manageable figure, Vickers explained.

The board has not yet arrived at a specific number of candidates to be presented to it by the search committee. A figure between five and 10 prospective candidates has been discussed.

At that point, Vickers said, the board members will assume full responsibility for the final selection of a candidate.

PERSONAL INTERVIEWS with the final group of candidates then will take place.

Visits to the school districts where top prospects are currently employed also may be planned by board members.

James and Wisner were unanimously approved to aid the board in the preliminary selection process.

JAMES, a 38-year veteran educator, retired in 1985 as Madison assistant superintendent of schools.

He joined the Madison School district in 1947 and later became principal of the former Dunbar School and was named an administrative assistant.

A World War II veteran of service with the U. S. Army Air Corps, he also played professional basketball. He played college football and basketball and coached athletics.

James is the current president of the Co-ordinated Youth Services board of directors and has been active in the Tri-Cities Area United Way, Salvation Army board, Cahokia Mount Council of the Boy Scouts of America, Mental Health board and Madison-Venice Rotary.

want to be identified, said Tuesday three men approached him last week wanting him to sign a petition to annex into Pontoon Beach. The men said Granite City was about to annex him, and the only way to "escape" was to sign their petition.

The men also apparently gave false information in an effort to obtain the businessman's signature, he said.

One of the three men identified himself as the owner of a motel, the businessman said. He was uncertain of the identity of the other two men, he said.

THE BUSINESSMAN then called Cruse's office to "get the other side of the story," he said. The businessman did not sign the petition.

In the letter to Wilson, Cruse said he was concerned that "there are many people getting incorrect or misleading information, who are believing what they are told and not bothering to check the facts."

Cruse called for the public meeting "in an effort to truly and accurately inform the public," he said.

WILSON SAID Tuesday he had just received the letter and had not decided if Pontoon Beach will participate in the meeting.

Though he does not know who approached the businessman, Wilson said they were not representing him or the village.

Director of Economic Development Alan Orthals said Granite City is not on the verge of annexing the businessman's property, and is willing to talk to him if he was interested in annexing into the city.

ORTHALS SAID he is concerned some residents are receiving inaccurate or incorrect information on annexation. He said annexation by petition does not allow for open debate on the issue.

Cruse has requested that the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce host the meeting. R. C. Bush, executive vice president of the chamber, said he would meet with the chamber's executive committee and board of directors before a decision is made to host the meeting.

"I see no problems if both mayors are agreeable to it," Bush said.

Chouteau wants role in meeting

By Norma Mendoza

CHOUTEAU — Township officials are dissatisfied with a proposal for Granite City and Pontoon Beach to hold a joint meeting to discuss annexation.

The proposal from Granite City Mayor Von Dee Cruse was made in a letter to Pontoon Beach Mayor Glenn Wilson last week. Cruse said he was responding to complaints from a businessman who said he had been approached about annexation by Pontoon Beach.

"IF A MEETING is to be held, Chouteau Township should host it," Supervisor Morris Miles told trustees at the Town Board meeting on Nov. 6.

Miles said the proposal was discussed at a meeting of the Chouteau Concerned Citizens Club.

"The people there felt we should have some say-so. As the township involved, we should have some part in the moderation of the meeting," Miles said.

In other action: Highway Commissioner Joe Stefanoff said Madison County is finishing repairs to Wagon Wheel Road in South Roxana.

"THEY REALLY did a good job," Stefanoff said. "They put down three layers of oil and chips over a rock base about 16 inches deep."

He said the county agreed to make repairs to the road, which was extensively damaged during construction to replace the Wagon Wheel bridge over the Hartford Canal.

Miles said the committee for Special Service Area No. 1 of the Madison County Sanitary Sewer District voted to refund $23,000 each to the townships of Chouteau, Nameoki and Venice. Each township originally paid up the money to finance the organization of the Special Service Area.

Town Clerk Pat Polley said U.S. Rep. Mel Price is replacing the American flags stolen from the town hall during a recent burglary.

A LETTER from Price said the two flags were flown over the Capitol in Washington, D.C., "in honor of the Chouteau Township flag and in honor of the Chouteau Senior Citizens."

Miles said a new sound system would be hooked up this week. He said all of the equipment stolen or damaged during the burglary has been replaced except items belonging to the senior citizens.

Miles said he advised the Chouteau Senior Citizens to go ahead and replace a damaged cabinet and stole meat slicer and give the bills to the township.

Polley said she checked with the insurance company to see if the new fire alarm system would reduce the township's premium.

THE COMPANY said it probably would not result in any reduction because Chouteau already has a very low fire insurance cost because of the previous alarm system and installed sprinklers.

Polley said office manager Charlotte Starr would attend a workshop sponsored by the Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund in Edwardsville. The workshop was to include a briefing on the 1986 Federal Income Tax Reform Act and how it affects township reporting of Social Security taxes.

The trustees approved payment of invoices and employees' wages.

The next meeting will be at 7 p.m. Nov. 24.

Local student in play

The hit Broadway musical, "Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat," was presented Oct. 30 and Nov. 1 as part of Parents' Weekend at Culver-Stocker College, Canton, Mo.

Adam Schneider, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Schneider of Granite City, was Joseph in the musical. A 1986 graduate of Granite City High School, he is a sophomore majoring in theater at the college of arts and sciences.

Impact center now in Alton

Impact, Inc., a nonprofit, nonresidential center for independent living in southwestern Illinois, has moved into office space at 2735 E. Broadway, Alton. The agency had been temporarily located at Lewis and Clark College in Godfrey due to a fire at the original office. The phone number is 1-482-1411.

Impact works with people with disabilities to increase their capacity to manage their affairs, and promotes the integration of disabled people into all areas of life.

In addition to the original services provided to people with disabilities, two new programs have been added. Services to blind and visually impaired individuals, formerly administered by the Illinois Council of the Blind, are now provided through Impact. Additionally, a program to provide adjustment services to head-injured persons will be operational by early December.

Services include cognitive retraining, psychological services, adaptive skills training, use of computer programs and other relevant services to assist head-injured persons to adjust to the expectations of a work environment.

7 Good Reasons To Have Your Baby At St. Elizabeth Medical Center

- CLASSES For those mothers who plan to have their babies at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, a variety of free classes are available to help expectant parents from the early months of pregnancy to caring for the newborns. Taught by registered nurses from the SEMC Obstetrics Department, classes include Early Pregnancy, Childbirth Preparation, Transition to Parenthood and Infant CPR.
- MATERNITY GUARANTEED RATE PROGRAM Approximately 30 percent less than a conventional maternity plan, the Maternity Guaranteed Rate Program provides prospective parents with advanced knowledge regarding financial liability and allows them to pay delivery costs before the baby's arrival. Depending on which plan you choose, mothers can expect only a 2 or 3-day hospital stay.
- BIRTHING ROOM SEMC's new Birthing Room allows parents to share the birthing process within a family centered environment. The Birthing Room, located adjacent to the conventional labor and delivery rooms, is staffed with two registered nurses.
- ROOMING-IN PROGRAM Some mothers would prefer to keep their babies in their rooms rather than have them stay in the hospital nursery. With the Rooming-In Program, babies are allowed to stay in the room with their mothers from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Fathers may visit or stay from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. A bassinets and all items necessary for care of the baby are provided. Supervision and assistance by the nursery registered nurses is always available.
- FATHER'S HOUR During normal visiting hours the baby is not in the mother's room. Therefore, an extension of the visiting hours has been set aside from 8 p.m. to 9 p.m. when the father will have an opportunity to hold and/or feed the baby.
- THE STORK CLUB Every new mother is a charter member of SEMC's Stork Club. Along with a guest, mothers dine from the special gourmet menu prepared just for Stork Club members only.
- SEMC AND YOU The classes and services for expectant families are often the beginning of a lifelong relationship between the hospital, the physicians and the families in this community. All physicians are board certified, and compared to other area hospitals, SEMC is centrally located and just minutes from any Metro-East city.

Granite City BPW names new 'speak-off' winners

Individual Development Course (IDC) speak-off competition was held at Charlie's Restaurant last week.

The Granite City Business and Professional Women's Organization sponsored the contest. Participants met each week for eight weeks at D.W. Brown Realty Co.

Sandra Ashcraft, a member of the host organization, was named the winner and Marie Szymek received second-place honors.

Mrs. Ashcraft spoke on "Employers' Responsiveness to the Needs of Working Women." She is employed at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

Mrs. Szymek, a member of the Gateway BPW Organization, chose "Rooting Out Discrimination Within Our Schools" as her subject. She works for George Cressley.

A runner-up was Lisa Fanning from the Granite City BPW. Her topic was "Reading, Writing and Arithmetic — Basic Training for the Future."

Serving as judges for the night were Robert Maxwell of Granite City Steel, Richard King, a former teacher in Granite City, and Mary Rottman of the Highland BPW.

Hazel Rollins was voted most improved speaker by her fellow participants. IDC coordinators were Annette Smith and Rosalie Stern, assisted by Kathy Clark.

The Granite City and Gateway BPW winners will represent their respective organizations in district-wide competition on early 1987.

The IDC program was introduced on the national level in 1983 and most recently was revised in 1984. It helps develop leadership and communication skills at the same time as it introduces participants to BPW-USA and its goals and issues.

Share the Dream topic of chapter

Betty Beck was hostess to Precursor Beta Gamma Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority. President Barbara Hente led the opening and closing rituals.

In keeping with this year's International Sorority theme, "Share the Dream," Mrs. Beck discussed sleep and dreams.

She said, "Dreams can help us by allowing us to work out some problems during sleep; 90 percent of sleep-talking occurs during the first stage of sleep while a person is still more awake than asleep."

"Sleep walkers are insensitive to the outside world and are difficult to wake. Usually they don't remember their sleep walking the next day. Sleep is important psychologically because it allows one to dream. Just as sleep refreshes your body, dreams may be necessary for you to store the day's memories for you and freshen up your mind," she said.

During the social hour, a Halloween mask competition was held, with Linda Koenig and Mrs. Beck receiving prizes. Everyone received Halloween favors. Others attending were Carol Cathey, Carolyn Walsh, Roberta Crawford, Vickie Barth and Marilyn Lumpkins.

Bond issue defeat puts homes at risk

The defeat Nov. 4 of a proposed bond issue for a new Madison County Nursing Home and Sheltered Care facility put the existing homes' future in doubt, although they are likely to last at least another year.

County Director of Administration Jim Monday said county voters have spoken on the nursing home issue. "And," he said, "it's not a situation where you don't know what they said."

Monday was referring to the resounding defeat of the proposed $6.5 million bond issue to build a new, combined nursing home sheltered care home.

Unofficial totals had 36,190 votes (69 percent) against the proposal and 16,289 (31 percent) in favor. Monday said he was a little surprised by the magnitude of the proposal's defeat. "I honestly did not know which way it would go, but I was surprised by the number of votes against it," he said.

The proposal's defeat came as a big disappointment to county nursing home administrator Bill Rainwater and county board member Bill Webb, Granite City, both of whom had worked hard for passage of the measure. Rainwater said Nov. 5 he thinks voters turned down the proposal because it would have increased real estate taxes.

"We as a staff will continue to give the best nursing care, but for how long is not up to me," he said. Rainwater said residents of the home said their families are expressing fear that the county facilities will be closed immediately. However, Monday said that will not happen.

He said county officials will be studying the fiscal condition of the two homes for the next six months to a year before any decision is made. He said the County Board will have to look at projected revenues and expenses for the homes and then decide on possible fee increases.

The board's finance committee is recommending that the homes receive no more operating money from the general fund. Last year, that amounted to $100,000. Also, Monday said, the homes will begin to feel the loss of federal revenue sharing in the next year.

He said they may not be possible to operate both the nursing home and sheltered care facilities in the future.

He said the staffs cannot be cut back too far because of state regulations on staff-patient ratios.

Any closing of one or both of the homes is a way off.

"The state has a process for closing. You can't do it tomorrow. The board, I'm sure, will spend six months to a year evaluating the situation," he said.

He said closing might not take place in 1987, "but we can't keep going this way."

The referendum garnered considerable opposition from some County Board members and from private nursing home operators in the county.

Margaret Myler, administrator of Pleasant Rest Nursing Home in Collinsville and a vocal opponent of the proposed bond issue, said the vote indicates county residents want the county to get out of the nursing home business.

She said the county should concentrate its efforts on other items like establishing a county public health department.

"Hold your breath as acrobats perform feats of skill and daring, stand aside as balancers defy the laws of gravity, and watch closely as escape artists disappear before your very eyes amidst the color and excitement of the Royal Lichtenstein Circus, appearing Nov. 12 at SIUE."

Madison County is one of only a few in the state without its own public health department, she said. Myler contends there are enough private nursing home beds in the county to take care of residents.

Webb said he fears for county nursing home residents.

"I'm worried about the old people. That's home to them and a move would be real bad," he said.

The county's nursing home and sheltered care home are now located in separate buildings, both dilapidated.

The ballot asked voters if the county should issue up to $6.5 million in bonds to finance construction of a new, combined facility.

According to information provided by the county, the bond issue would have cost the average county taxpayer an additional $5.34 a year in property taxes.

Madison County Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer said earlier that, if the bond issue was defeated, the board should take a serious look at getting out of the nursing home business.

These are the words of the SIUE Student Program Board, in announcing the circus scheduled to arrive in Morris Quadrangle at noon.

Nick Weber, founder of the circus, will act as ringmaster.

Admission is free, and the public is invited to attend.

Hogan conjures up visions of Tilley, Joiner, Winslow

QUINCY — What a night it was. Granite City got its first-ever victory in the Illinois High School Association football playoffs here Wednesday, as you know by now. And the 28-22 win had a little bit of everything, enough to make it one of the more exciting high school football games you can hope to see.

The Warrior defense was at times dented by the outstanding athletic ability of Blue Devil quarterback Eric Bush, an outstanding athlete who can head upfield with the ball and also throw it a long way. But John Kabbendjian, Tim Davis, Charles Yarber, Mike Williams and Co. never gave in, and Bush ended up taking quite a few hard hits. Then Kabbendjian batted Bush's last pass of the night back in his face with 18 seconds left, and the win was secured.

Granite City forced four turnovers, converting three of them into 21 points. The Warriors never did turn the ball over.

"That was the game right there," said coach Ron Yates. "The running of Len Whiteside was yet another bright spot, as he slammed his lean body into the line for 83 yards, including the go-ahead touchdown in the fourth quarter."

It was a team effort, no doubt, but again it was one of the Hogans who seemed to rise above the crowd. While Tim often overshadowed his brother Jamie on the basketball court and the baseball diamond, Jamie has really come into his own on the gridiron in 1986. An all-conference receiver last year, he was also named to the all-SWC teams in basketball and baseball, so he's no slouch there, either. But his abilities as a pass receiver are nothing short of amazing. He caught nine of Tim's passes Wednesday, and not many of them were easy. It's almost as if he knew where the ball was going to go in his direction and not be caught, like the pass in the end zone in the third quarter that Bush just managed to knock away.

Though not the kind of receiver to run a fly pattern and outrace you for 80 yards, Jamie just always seems to get open for the medium-range gain. And if he's not open, he reaches up and catches it anyway. In that way, he reminds one of the Cardinals' long-time great, Pat Tilley.

Warrior basketball coach Don Detterding referred to Jamie as a "Tilley-type" receiver earlier this month. He catches them one-handed, under his arm, on his hip, you name it. The people from Quincy who hadn't seen him before were amazed.

The road to...

But it's one thing to be the game's outstanding player under normal circumstances. It's another to come back and catch the winning TD after your lights have been out for a few minutes.

Just before halftime, Tim ran a bootleg, and Jamie took a shot to the head while blocking. He was dazed, to say the least. His father, Kelly, said something about a possible concussion. It was questionable if Jamie could play the second half.

"We got to the locker room at halftime, and I wasn't really sure where my locker was," Jamie said after the game, when he was the center of attention. "Then they were asking me questions about the soccer game (Granite City-Collinsville). I thought they had played today."

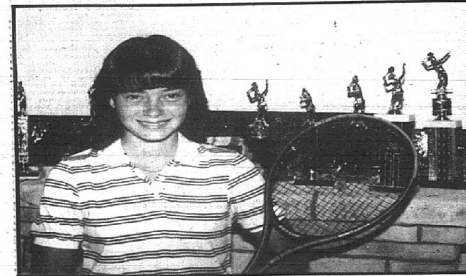

But when he was asked who won and he responded "Collinsville," the impression was he was starting to come back. Who in Granite City wouldn't remember the out-

KERI WECKMAN with some of the trophies she has already won. Just a freshman at GCHS, she has a tremendous future ahead of her.

Weckman completes successful season

Keri Weckman, a freshman at Granite City High School and the No. 1 singles player on the Warrior girls tennis team, ended the season with a trip to the state tournament in Mt. Prospect Oct. 23-25.

Although she did not fare well at state, losing her first two matches and being eliminated, she can be proud of her many accomplishments.

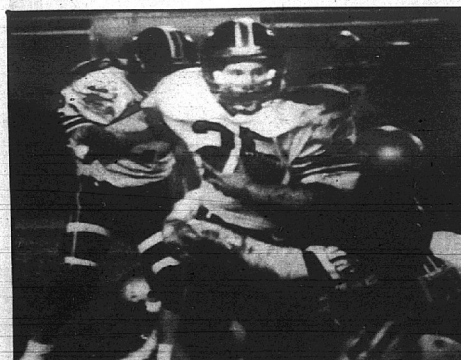

Weckman was endorsed by the St. Louis District Tennis Association to represent them in sectional competition on the Missouri Valley Championship Circuit. That meant traveling to and playing in several out-of-state tournaments.

Locally, she won all three tournaments played in her age division (14 and under). When playing in the 16 and under division, she won six out of seven area tournaments. Her only loss came in a three-set final to a girl whom Keri later went on to beat in high school play.

Weckman was 17-3 during the high school season prior to the state tournament. She was third in the Southwestern Conference meet Oct. 11 at Granite City and second at the Wood River Sectional Oct. 18. Her only three losses were to highly-ranked juniors.

Keri is ranked in the top 10 in her age group in the St. Louis area. She is the only Quad-City area player currently holding a sectional ranking in the Missouri Valley Tennis Association, which is made up of the best players from a five-state area.

Football

come of that Tuesday night game? Back he came, and he was just as good in the second half. His leaping grab of a four-yard scoring pass from Tim midway through the final period was the final margin of victory.

After the game, Todd Hinterser, a teammate on the baseball team, ran up to Jamie and compared him to Charlie Joiner. He was not just comparing Jamie's ability to catch the ball with that of the NFL's all-time leading receiver, but also his ability to come back from an injury.

In 1979, Joiner was being knocked all over the field by the Denver Broncos in the final game of the year as his San Diego Chargers tried to win their division. Joiner, not a big man, kept coming back and eventually caught the clinching TD pass from Dan Fouts. Sound familiar?

You could also make a comparison between Hogan and a former Southwestern Conference receiver named Kellen Winslow. Winslow, a former East St. Louis Flyer, also plays for San Diego. And in a memorable 1981 playoff game in Miami, the big tight end was punished unmercifully by the Dolphins defense. He would stagger off the field and return one play later to catch yet another pass.

He finished with 13 catches for 169 yards as the Chargers took an exhausting 41-38 win in overtime. Winslow was literally dragged off the field by teammates.

Hogan was banged up nearly that bad, but the courage he showed was indeed memorable.

The fan support for the Warriors was, in many ways, even better than that for the Blue Devils. Quincy's Flinn Stadium looks like a college facility at first, with its huge parking lot and concrete facade.

The Quincy side of the stadium has concrete seats for about 5,000 people, but they weren't nearly full. On the other side of the field, the visitors have one section of bleachers for a couple of hundred fans. The Quincy people said even that small section was rarely filled by the opponent's fans. But not Wednesday.

Five busloads of Granite Citizens made the trip and packed those bleachers. They yelled like crazy for their guys, and it paid off.

Hats off to the Warrior fans. If there's any more playoff action up north, you can bet they'll be there.

If the Warriors somehow end up in the state title game, it would be played Thanksgiving weekend, the same time as the Mt. Vernon Turkey Classic, where the basketball team opens its season. In that case, Deterding is going to have to find somebody to fill in for the Hogans and Eric Ryterski.

By the way, everytime one of the Hogans gets hit, Deterding must be holding his breath. They're just as valuable to him as they are to Yates.

Deterding was almost able to field a pretty good team Wednesday. In addition to the Hogans, also spotted in the crowd were Tom Taylor, who will be back for his senior year, and Joe Gray, now in his freshman year at Western Illinois, where he's playing soccer.

The only player missing from last year's starting five that won the conference was Chris Veizer, now at Illinois College in Jacksonville.

Player of the week

STEVE TRITTSCHUH of Granite City was named the college player of the week by Soccer America magazine for the week of Oct. 30. Trittschuh has three goals and two assists for the SIUE Cougars this year, and is a leader on defense. The Cougars were 11-4-2 heading into the regular season finale at Northwestern. They stopped UMSL's 12-game winning streak with a 2-1 win at Bob Guetler Field Wednesday.
